- 6 For example, a version of Joseph Paxton's proposed 'Great Victorian Way' (see, for example, Evans et al., 1986) for the twenty-first century – a grand arcade with trams running along it. See Richards (2001) for further ideas for future transport in cities, including covered-over streets.
- 7 Turner (1996).
- 8 This is for a similar reason that there maybe never was and never will be an evolutionary opportunity for six-legged horses. On the difference between logical possibility, biological possibility and evolutionary history, see Daniel Dennett's Darwin's Dangerous Idea (1996).
