

and B.Arch.(Hons) from the University of Adelaide, Australia, and his MAUD from the GSD. Richard Marshall was the faculty coordinator for the conference entitled Waterfronts in Post-Industrial Countries, held October 7–9, 1999 at the GSD.

Rinio Bruttomesso

Rinio Bruttomesso is the Director of the International Center for Cities on Water and a Professor of Urban Design at the University Institute of Architecture in Venice. He is also the editor of Aquapolis, an international review that deals with waterfront-related developments and issues.

Bruttomesso is the author of many publications on water-related development, including Waterfronts: A New Frontier for Cities on the Water (1993), Cities on Water and Transport (1995), Urban Waterfront Redevelopment in Italian Cities. Case Studies: Genoa and Venice (1995), Urban Waterfront Transport in the Framework of a Complex Interchange (1996), and Land–Water Intermodal Terminals (1998).

He has spoken, and continues to speak, at numerous conferences, seminars, and round tables throughout the world, notably the First and Second International Conferences of Aquapolises in Osaka and Shanghai respectively, the 1996 and 1997 Asia Pacific Waterfront and Marina Development Conferences in Singapore and Cape Town, the Forum Europa Nostra in Naples in 1998, and the Italian Institute of Culture in Sydney in 1998.

He is a member of the board of the International Association of Aquapolises in Osaka, the International Waterborne Transport Subcommittee, the UITP (International Union of Public Transport, Brussels), and of ASM-Venice Mobility Services Company.

Anne Cook

Anne Cook is Manager of Port Planning and Development (Waterfront Development) for the Port of San Francisco. Her role is to oversee port development projects to ensure better utilization of property consistent with the Waterfront Land Use Plan and to ensure that projects are acceptable from a financial, regulatory and community standpoint. Cook has extensive experience from both the public and private sectors, having worked as a land use, real estate and local government attorney before moving into planning and project development.

Prior to her appointment as Manager of Port Planning, she was Manager of Regulatory and Environmental Affairs (Waterfront Planning), responsible for all long-range land use planning of port-controlled property from Fisherman's Wharf to India Basin.

Cook graduated cum laude from the University of California, obtained her Master in City Planning degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and obtained her degree in Law from University of California, Boalt Hall School of Law. She was admitted to the California Bar in 1987.

Alex Krieger

Alex Krieger, FAIA, is Professor in Practice of Urban Design and Chairman of the Department of Urban Planning and Design. He also serves as