
Acknowledgements

This book is the result of many years of study. I am grateful to all those who have funded or commissioned projects that have allowed us to add to our knowledge – in particular, grants from the Royal Institute of British Architects, The Architects' Registration Council of the United Kingdom, The Social Science Research Council, The Engineering and Physical Science Research Council, NHS Estates, Birmingham City Council, Allied Breweries, Bass Charrington, The Oxford Regional Hospital Board, and The Training Agency.

A considerable number of people have been involved. I am indebted to all these people for investigating and debating the ideas that appear here. Some have been colleagues with whom I have had many discussions, and others collaborators who have actually worked on projects. They include May Bassanino, Jane Darke, Ron Easterby, Angela Fisher, David Hale, Graham Harding, Lyndon Herbert, Margaret Newton, Edward Ng, Chengzhi Peng, Michael Phiri, Chris Spencer, David Walters, John Wells-Thorpe and John Worthington. There are simply too many students who have been involved to list them by name, but particular appreciation is due to a number of doctoral, masters and undergraduate students. They include Faisal Agabani, Abu Bakar, Ahmed Bakerman, Tami Belhadj, Barry Bowden, Andrea Cook, Adela Cotera, Jorge Cotera, Colin Darlington, Rashid Embi, Zoe Holland, Abu Hasan Ismail, Lee Shao Jun, Tang Hsiao Ling, Loke Shee Ming, Richard Painter, Alice Pereira, Marcia Pereira, Ruth Peternoster, Grant Pitches, Simon Pryce, Steven Roberts, Joongseuk Ryu, Prashant Solanky, Ben Stagg, Rodzyah Yunus and Mohammed Yusoff.

I am grateful to John Outram for permission to use the illustration of his work in Figure 4.9, and to Jeremy Till for his photograph of the Paris Opera in Figure 3.2.