

Managing graphics production

chapter 5

5.1 Briefing the designer | 5.2 Managing the output |
5.3 List of figures | 5.4 Project stages | 5.5 Print processes |
5.6 Printing in colour | 5.7 Budgets

There are several interrelated factors that will assist successful management of the graphics input to an urban design project.

In addition to the techniques explained in this book, and access to computer programs and other equipment, you will need:

- appropriate skills
- familiarity with the production process – from initial ideas to completed products
- access to appropriate printing capability and capacity
- a realistic budget for the products required.