

Illustration and photography credits

We thank the originators for permission to reproduce artwork and photography. We have tried to contact and credit the copyright owners of all images used in this book. Illustration and photography is credited on each page from top to bottom, left to right. The authors will be happy to receive requests for any credits missed, and these will be incorporated in future editions.

We would also like to thank the landowners and agents whose foresight in appointing teams that recognise the importance of graphic communication in the urban design process has helped enrich this book.
