

Upper left: Bio-filtration garden beds have been integrated into the main entrance path making sustainable processes visible to all parkland users
 Lower left: Water play provides opportunity for passive and active recreation for age groups
 Upper right: Public access water play is a key element to the parkland design
 Lower right: Water invigorates children's play

