

Upper left: This catalyst project will remake seven miles of industrial Port of Los Angeles property, photographed here prior to development. Acres of asphalt will be replaced with public amenities, tripling the amount of open space on the site
 Lower left: An iconic arc of Canary Island Palms frames a new gateway to San Pedro's waterfront
 Upper right: A granite band Story Rope extends the length of the promenade. Thirteen stories of San Pedro's history are engraved in gold granite medallions with illuminated blue terrazzo compass-rose medallions that serve as trail markers and give directional reference
 Lower right: The promenade provides a venue for new community attractions and events, creating a spectacular new context for experiencing the working harbour
