

Courtesy of the Urban Redevelopment Authority, Singapore

Figure 7.15 The Clarke Quay Conservation Area, showing the buildings to remain.

Figure 7.16 Boat Quay, Singapore.

The URA began the construction of a highly successful riverside promenade in 1992. Its success was both economic and social with the creation of an alfresco dining area on the waterfront at Boat Quay (see Figure 7.16). The promenade was extended along the river past Clarke Quay to Robertson Quay and completed in early 2000. All establishments