

- Friedan, Betty, 165
 frontier mentality, 12
 “Functional City” advocated by CIAM, 16
 functionalist urbanism: Jacob’s definitive critique of, 158
 funding, 67, 68, 75, 206, 242, 288; appropriations of Congress, 12, 61, 101
 “Future of CIAM, The” (Sert), 29
- Gabo, Naum, 26, 35n33
 Gans, Herbert, 64, 66, 69, 70, 77, 165
 Garden City, 19, 160, 184
 Garvin, Alexander, 214, 225n3
 Gass, William, 147
 GATCPAC (Grupo de Arquitectos Y Técnicos Catalanes Para El Progreso de la Arquitectura Contemporánea), 16
 gated and guarded communities, 93, 268, 286
 Gateway, Salt Lake City, Utah, 178
 Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, 61–63
 Geddes, Patrick, xviii2, 24, 34n17, 70, 73, 125, 160, 196; diagram of relationship of communities to their environment, 24
 Geddes, Robert, 36n42, 45, 50, 69
 Gehl, Jan, 106
 Gehry, Frank O., 31, 124, 208, 209, 308, 313, 321
Gemeinschaft and Gesellschaft: Tönnies’s distinction between, 140
 Genoa: antiglobalization uprisings in, 269
 gentrification, 174, 323; Central Square, Boston, as arrested, 302; mitigating inherent negative social effects of, 224; as more positive force for urbanism, 268; in New York, 222; parasitic economy of, 179; producing fine-grained planning, 221–25; urban design and New Urbanism as house styles of, 179
 geographic information systems (GIS), 104–5; GIS-based programs, 249
 German model of urban development, 202
 Germany: Emscher Park in, 133, 149, 302–3
 Getty Center (Meier), 215
 Geuze, Adriaan, 186, 187, 188, 235, 312
 Giedion, Sigfried, 15, 16, 20–21, 23–24, 25, 29, 30, 32n2, 33nn13–14, 35nn22–23, 35nn30–31, 37n46; definition of urban design, 54; urban design at Harvard (1953–57) and, 25–26, 44; urban design developed by, 17–23
 Giorgio, Francesco di, 139
 Giuliani, Rudy, 159
 Glendale, California: mixed-use mall in, 239–40, 243
 Glendale Galleria, 240 global city: emergence of idea of, 273, 274, 275
 global city-region, 263–64; world’s population living in, 264
 globalization, 181, 182, 259; antiglobalism and, 269, 274; of capital, labor, and culture, 259, 262, 263; effects on politics, economy, and lifestyle, 88; need for critical cultural interpretation and, 283; new social contexts resulting from, 41–42; regional urbanization and, 263; as topic missing from First Urban Design Conference, 66