

1.8 CITY-WIDE ART PROGRAMS

Utilitarian features such as roundabouts have been transformed through public art into exciting city landmarks.

The city has a fine collection of memorials and monuments to commemorate eminent people and historic events – the earlier proliferation of these items is now being harnessed, but they make a valued contribution to the streets, public plazas, parks and gardens nonetheless.

