

---

Contents

---

	Acknowledgements	ix
1	Space as language	1
	Why a language?	1
	The art of architecture	2
	The social art	4
	The language of space	6
	Reading the language	8
	Behavioural settings	11
	How this book works	12
2	Space and the human dimension	14
	The human basis of the language	14
	The human psyche	15
	Motivation and need	16
	Spatial needs	18
	Stimulation	18
	Security	21
	Behavioural settings	23
	The security of the passage of time	29
	Identity	31
	The balance of needs	35
3	Mechanisms of perceiving space	42
	Sensation and perception	42
	Size and distance	44
	Scale	44
	Scale of movement	55
	Scale and the social order	59
	Foreground and background	60