

3.8 The laboratory at Penn State University by Louis Kahn. This is a sophisticated piece of architectural manipulation of scale. Elements simultaneously manage to communicate both the scales of the institute and of the individual laboratory. The community of scholars who make up a university like this are thus beautifully symbolized