

Contents

Introduction	1	Chapter 4
0.1 The purpose of this book	2	Graphical products in urban design	85
0.2 Effective communication	4	4.1 Reports and documents	86
0.3 Teamwork and leadership	4	4.2 Exhibitions	89
Chapter 1		4.3 Leaflets	90
Guiding principles for graphics in urban design	5	4.4 Presentation drawings	91
1.1 Choice of techniques	6	4.5 Posters	92
1.2 Honesty and integrity	10	4.6 Newsletters	93
1.3 House style	10	4.7 Digital presentations	94
1.4 Clarity	10	4.8 Websites	95
1.5 Hand-drawn and computer graphics	12	4.9 Physical models	96
Chapter 2		Chapter 5
Graphics in the urban design process	15	Managing graphics production	97
2.1 Contextual analysis	16	5.1 Briefing the designer	98
2.2 Spatial analysis	19	5.2 Managing the output	99
2.3 Statistical analysis	24	5.3 List of figures	99
2.4 Conceptual analysis	27	5.4 Project stages	100
2.5 Public participation	28	5.5 Print processes	102
2.6 Rationale	35	5.6 Printing in colour	103
2.7 Preliminary proposals	36	5.7 Budgets	104
2.8 Option testing	37	Chapter 6
Case study 1: Vision for Scarborough	38	Images and information	105
2.9 Final proposals	40	6.1 Aerial photography	106
Case study 2: Brierley Hill, Dudley	52	6.2 Site photography	108
2.10 Presenting details	54	6.3 Setting out to photograph	111
Chapter 3		6.4 Enhancing photography	111
Good technical practice	59	6.5 Ordnance Survey	112
3.1 Graphical language	60	6.6 Types of image	113
Case study 3: Urban realm strategy, Aberdeen	72	6.7 Portable document format (PDF)	114
3.2 Base-maps	74	6.8 Paper sizes	115
3.3 Using computers	76	6.9 Scale conversions	115
Case study 4: Newhall phase II, Essex	80	Illustration and photography credits	116
3.4 Synergy of styles	82	Further reading	118
3.5 Desktop publishing (DTP)	83	Useful websites	118
3.6 Software	84		