

Courtyards

Courtyards provide a private and domestic spatial counterpart to public squares and streets in urban environments. As an urban form, the landscape of courtyards provides space, light and greenery for social and private activities. Courtyards potentially enable close interaction between indoor and outdoor life because the architectural and landscape spaces are interwoven.