

Left: The central spine contains a boardwalk and existing concrete wall which formed part of the existing site. A planted swale captures and filters rain water for reuse
 Upper right: An aerial view showing the park's context within Pyrmont and the city
 Lower right: A suite of custom furniture using concrete and recycled timber is featured throughout the site

