

As a result of its characteristic, Lom Kao community received the honorable award, which presented by ASA (Association of Siamese Architects Nationals) as ASA Architectural Conservation Award 2017. Local and private organizations are collaborating to maintain and preserve the valuable architecture like ICOMOS by ASA. The community 's organization has been collaborating in many projects with the educational organizations as following: 1. The conservation and preservation the valuable architecture project; 2. The community cultural 's map project; and 3. The community 's conservation projects. Importantly, young generation could experience and participate in many projects. In the long-term plan, the sustainable development is the impact to develop and conserve the community.

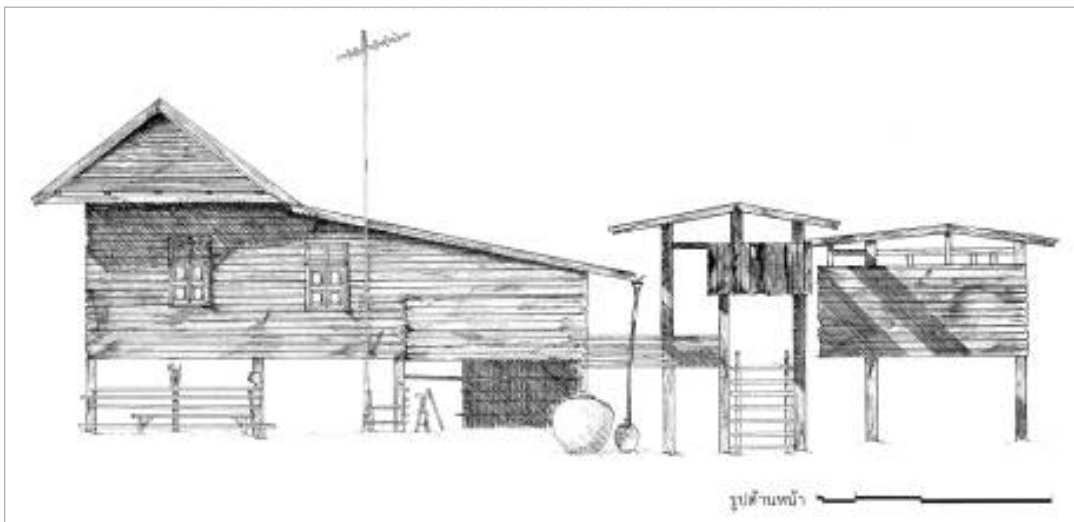

Figure.2: The characteristic architecture at Lom Kao, Petchaboon, Thailand

In conclusion, IWAH 2018 is the one of steps that would contribute and involve the collaboration among the participants from Asian to have conservative awareness of traditional architecture. Importantly, IWAH 2018 expects to be the platform for exchanging the knowledge and increasing the understanding of conservation.

Theme of workshop

Topics of interest include (but are not limited to):

- Cultural development and awareness.
- Balancing heritage conservation and development.
- Planning for public health.
- Climate change and ecological planning.
- Building physics and technology.
- Architecture and urban design education.
- Sustainable design and configuration of sustainable cities.
- Forms and aesthetics in architectural designs.
- Sustainability and architecture.